2018 Gathering of the Green

Eleven CTCC members attended the March 21 to 24 classic John Deere event in Davenport, Iowa. Traveling together were Gary Riggles, Paul Hieb Greg Greenfield, Mark Harrison, David Harrison and Alerd Johnson. Jim Grove and family traveled separately. Steve Ebe and Dax Kimmelshue and Dustin Kimmelshue traveled from Northern California and Albert Ulrich from Chehalis.

The theme Legend Made Legacy represented John Deere's 100 years in the tractor business. Most John Deere collectors know that Deere purchased the Waterloo Tractor Engine Company in 1918 which started John Deere in the tractor business. John Deere still has the check written to the Waterloo Saving Bank for $2,100,100. On display were two Waterloo Boys, one in original work clothes and the other restored in its green, yellow and red finery.

One change this year was that not all tractors were restored but some were in taken right off the farm. The many displays included not just tractors but implements, combines, lawn mowers and snowmobiles. The displays, workshops, banquet rooms and vender areas were spread across the conference North and South River Centers. The three and a half day event attracted over 3000 participants with many coming from the local area for a one day drop in experience. 41 states were represented with 51 registrants from Canada. Australia, Germany, Great Britain, South Africa and Sweden were also represented.

Over 60 workshops were conducted over three days ranging from topics on restoration, tractor history and specific model repairs. For the non tractor enthusiast, there were sessions on barn history, beekeeping, basket weaving, quilting and card making.

The vender area contained over 70 booths selling both used and new parts for your green and yellow machines.

26 tours were schedule over four days that mostly visited the Quad city area. Most of the John Deere plant tours were within 30 minutes of the conference center. One of the local tours was to the Deere-Wiman House & Butterworth Center. Several of our group toured two homes(mansions) constructed on an estate overlooking Moline Illinois. The Butterworth Center has one of the largest residential pipe organs in the Midwest. The Winman House was built in 1872 and the Butterworth Center in 1892. Both homes are nicely restored and represent the rich and famous(Deere family) from the 19th and 20th century. If ever in the Quad city area, this is a must see attraction. Another informational tour was of the Big River Ethanol plant in West Burlington, Iowa. Started in 1992 by local corn farmers this enterprise has grown to four plants. Currently the plants produce 418 million gallons of ethanol a year from 147 million bushels of corn. The inputs are corn, lots of water and natural gas. The outputs are ethanol and residue. All of the corn residue is sold to the local farmers for hog and cattle feed.

A trip to Davenport Iowa isn't without a trip to the Machine Shed restaurant. This food eatery provides some of the best pork in the country with family style dinning at a great price. Some of the regulars do have a problem seeing their belt buckle.

This was the tenth anniversary of the Gathering of the Green and the four tractors clubs involved won't commit to a 2020 show but I bet they will. If you are interested in the 2020 show, register early to sign up for the tours. Tours fill several months in advance of the show and the nearby hotels fill six months in advance. Oh yes, if you are planning to carry large tractor parts in your airline carry on bag, consider checking them. Ask Greg, David and Paul about this! Airport TSA is just trying to do their job. ajohnson

President's Report

Spring time seems to be a busy time for everyone. Our first activity is the plow day on April 24. The location is about the same place as the last four years so we will need lots of help. We will have our famous cook out for lunch and coffee, cookies and donuts will be ready shortly after 9:00 a.m. May 1 will be our rain out day. I want to welcome Duke Dykstra and Richard Kiser to the board and thank Addy Johnson and Curtis Johnson for all the years they served. Curtis will stay on as our Webmaster. Our next meeting is going to be an evening meeting, Thursday, April 15 at 7:00 p.m. North Washington Implement, Lynden. Use the west entrance because the store will be closed.

See you at the meeting,

Paul Hieb, President
